  - until the changes are made in the Regulations to work in accordance with the present Regulations on the Joint commission and on the Chinese-Mongolian-Russian Dauria International Protected Area.
3. Having heard the report of the chief of the department of normative regulation in the specially nature protected areas sphere of the Ministry of natural resources of Russia on the possible ways of upgrading the DIPA status, the Parties decided to consider the possibility of:
- concluding an intergovernmental Agreement on the Chinese-Mongolian-Russian Dauria International Protected Area signed at the higher level than the present Agreement of March 29, 1994;
  - including the natural site "Daurian steppes" into the UNESCO List of World Heritage as a united trilateral international nomination, to apply to the UNESCO World Heritage Centre for financing of a seminar on preparation of nomination of the trilateral World Heritage Site;
  - receiving the status of a UNESCO transboundary biosphere reserve by the international protected area as a whole with the name "Transboundary Biosphere Reserve Dauria", as well as by separate specially protected areas, including the Mongol Daguur reserve.

At the same time to ask the MAB National Committees (UNESCO program "Man and Biosphere") to appeal jointly to the Secretariat of the program with the proposal to nominate the Chinese-Mongolian-Russian Dauria International Protected Area for the status of an International Transboundary Biosphere Reserve.

The coordinator of preparing the joint nomination for the status of a united Transboundary Biosphere Reserve at the first stage is appointed the Russian Party. The fees for preparation of the nomination are paid also by the Russian Party.

Taking into account the functional unity of the wetlands of international importance – "the Torey lakes" (2RU019) from the Russian side and "Mongol Daguur" (2MN001) from the Mongolian side, Ramsar sites "Lake Buirnuur and the surrounding marshes" (2MN008) from the Mongolian side and "Nature reserve Lake Dalai, Inner Mongolia" » (2CN010) from the Chinese side, the Parties find it reasonable to consider the issue on extension the named wetlands with the aim of establishing a common transboundary wetland of international importance (Ramsar Convention) on the basis of the Chinese-Mongolian-Russian Dauria International Protected Area. To begin preparation for the nomination of a Transboundary Wetland of international importance with the Russian Party as a coordinator at the first stage. Preparation of the nomination is paid by each Party according to the amounts of means received from national budgets.

The Parties agreed to the proposal on putting forward the initiative of confirming the Ramsar regional initiative on the Amur and found it reasonable to fulfill corresponding national procedures in conformity with the resolution VIII.30 of the Ramsar Convention. The Parties proposed to elaborate the details in order to develop the regional Ramsar initiative on the Amur within the UNDP/GEF project "Complex management of the river Amur/Heilong basin" and taking into account the program "Green Belt of the Amur".

4. Having heard the reports on the prospects of extension of the international protected area territory, the Parties adopted the following decisions:

- to consider it reasonable to include into the DIPA the existing protected nature areas of Dauria ecoregion, which have special importance for biodiversity conservation and are key habitats for globally endangered and put into the national Red Data Books objects of animal and plant world
- to facilitate establishment of new specially protected nature areas on the Russian and Chinese banks of the upper reaches of the Argun river, on Lake Buirnuur and other places with their further coming into the Chinese-Mongolian-Russian Dauria International Protected Area
- to consider it reasonable to develop cooperation zones around the existing protected nature areas for establishing a united transboundary biosphere area.

5. Having considered the program of cooperation within the Chinese-Mongolian-Russian Dauria International Protected Area (DIPA) for the years 2006-2010, the Parties decided:

- to approve the program of cooperation within the Chinese-Mongolian-Russian Dauria International Protected Area for 2006-2010;
- each Party makes efforts to provide financing of the planned activities from the national budgets of the Parties and non-budget sources;
- to charge on the Work group of the Chinese-Mongolian-Russian Dauria International Protected Area to consider and adopt yearly plans of work;
- to fasten the process of signing the intergovernmental agreement on establishing transboundary specially protected nature areas including:
  1. Onon-Balj National Park from the Mongolian side and the Sokhondinsky State Nature Biosphere Reserve from the Russian side
  2. Uvs Nuur Reserve from the Mongolian side and the Ubsunurskaya Kotlovina State Nature Biosphere Reserve from the Russian side
  3. Khuvsgul National Park from the Mongolian side and the Tunkinsky National Park from the Russian side.

Having held the meeting in a constructive and friendly atmosphere the Parties came to the following conclusion:

1. The Chinese-Mongolian-Russian Dauria International Protected Area is an example of successful cooperation of the three countries in the sphere of environmental protection and contributes to the development of friendly relations between the peoples of our states.
2. The protected area is a key object in conservation of landscape and biological diversity of the transboundary ecological regions: Dauria steppe one and the Amur basin. The importance of spreading its experience to other transboundary reserves of the region, newly established ones among them, is recognized.
3. Admitting the existence of objective difficulties in the activity of the international protected area, the Parties consider it necessary to make efforts to overcome them.

The Parties decided to hold the next 5-th meeting of the Joint commission in 2008 in Mongolia.

The Parties express their gratitude to:

- Administration of Chitinskaya oblast of the Russian Federation for financial support and assistance in organization of the meeting;
Administration of the Chita regional museum of local studies named after A. S. Kuznetsov for assistance in organization and holding the meeting;
- Russian Board on nature supervision in Chitinskaya oblast for assistance in preparation and holding the meeting;
